

Flowers by Page & Bloom

Page & Bloom are a social enterprise providing flexible and secure employment opportunities to domestic abuse survivors who are rebuilding their lives. This is done through the crafting of beautiful flower displays for offices, events, and corporate gifts. The flowers are made entirely from recycled and salvaged paper; resulting in flowers that are long lasting, sustainable, and offer a positive social impact.

Page & Bloom also provide a free employability-skills training program that enables domestic abuse survivors to acquire the essential skills and confidence needed for a successful transition into the workplace. In addition, paid work experience is offered, forming a crucial stepping stone towards employment.

Page & Bloom are currently seeking corporate partners to collaborate on the expansion of their training and work experience program. Please contact Page & Bloom Founder, Rosie Oglesby, at rosie@pageandbloom.com to see how your company could help.
